Honoring These Past Presidents

The 1969 Illinois Shorthorn Sale marks the 28th consecutive year for this sale, one of the many successful projects of the big Illinois Shorthorn Ass'n. In that time the association has been headed by many of the country's leading Shorthorn breeders — each an Illinois resident. This year's Illinois banquet at 7 p.m., March 3, in the St. Nicholas Hotel, Springfield, will honor those men who have been so vital to the promotion of Illinois Shorthorns on both a state and national level by serving as president of their association.

ILLINOIS LEADS THE WAY!

This is the 28th consecutive Illinois Shorthorn Show and Sale. In the previous 27 sales 1,376 $\frac{2}{3}$  head have grossed \$630,365 to average \$458!

Illinois is acknowledged the largest, most important Shorthorn state. It boasts more total head, more progressive-minded breeders, and more sale activity. Illinois is the only state with an active system of district Shorthorn associations, each with its own scheduled programs for breed promotion. Illinois fostered and pioneered junior association programs. And, here in Illinois, wise Shorthorn breeders with an eye on the future dig deep into their own pockets to help young people get started in fitting and showing Shorthorns. Here, too, the idea of national Shorthorn Lassies was conceived and put into action!

Armed with every fresh concept in modern beef breeding and every up-to-the-minute tool available, Illinois Shorthorn breeders hold fast to their position of world-wide leadership. Cattlemen from all parts of the United States and foreign countries come to Illinois for what they want and need. Far-sighted people know that here they have the advantage of selecting from performance tested bulls, including many backed by official carcass evaluations.

Since the first Illinois Shorthorn sale was held, hundreds of the state's best have gone through the sale ring and out to improve the breed from coast to coast. Plan now to be on hand for this 28th consecutive event and share in the powerful offering presented by the nation's leading Shorthorn association. Nowhere else are such high quality cattle offered so consistently.
